PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 104th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 142

WASHINGTON, THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1996

No. 45

House of Representatives

The House met at 10 a.m.

The Chaplain, Rev. James David Ford, D.D., offered the following prayer:

We recognize, O God, that we as a people have been blessed with means both spiritual and material, that we have been given knowledge and insight into the workings of the world and the revelations of the human spirit. Yet, we know too that we have not always aspired to use our resources in ways that strengthen our land and give vision and hope to every person. May Your word, O God, speak to us, may Your spirit inspire us, and may Your grace encircle us this day and every day. Amen.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

Ms. MCCARTHY led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize 15 Members on each side for 1-minute.

UNION BOSSES ATTACKING THE PREFERRED REPUBLICAN VISION OF THE FUTURE

(Mr. BALLENGER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BALLENGER. Mr. Speaker, most working men and women in this country prefer the Republican vision of the future. They support a change in the way the Federal Government works and operates, they want a change in the way the welfare system operates, they want an end to race and gender preferences on the job and in our schools, and they want to decide who spends their money and on what. Yet, the self-proclaimed champions of "working men and women" resist this popular agenda at every turn.

On Monday, a group of elite, liberal, big union bosses levied a $35 million tax increase on the men and women of the AFL-CIO, money they will use to attack the pro-family, pro-middle-class agenda of change offered by this Republican-led Congress. Despite their efforts, the union bosses better be wary, because it is only a matter of time before the rank and file throws them out and replaces them.

HEALTH REFORM DOES NOT HELP THE JOBLESS

for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, I will support the health reform bill today; portability is long overdue. But I do have a question. What good is portability to many Americans who do not have a job?

It is about jobs, Congress, and around here jobs has become an absolute four-letter word to the highest degree.

Check out some of the new high paying jobs American workers could apply for: Deep fried foods specialist. Gizzard skin remover. Corn cob pipe assembler. Pantyhose crotch closer machine operator. How about a poultry impregnator? Tell me, Mr. Speaker, what exactly is a poultry impregnator?

I am going to vote for the health reform bill, but it is a help to those who have, but it does absolutely nothing for those that have not. A job, that is.

Think about that.

THE REFUSE-TO-LOSE BASKETBALL OF MY UMASS MINUTEMEN

(Mr. TORKILDSEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. TORKILDSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the extraordinary accomplishments of the all-but-ordinary UMass Minutemen, the best basketball team in the country.

Center Marcus Camby has dominated as a scorer, rebounder, and shot-blocker, and is the best player in the country.

Starting guards Carmelo Travieso and Edgar Padilla personify teamwork. They combine their unique talents, under any circumstance, to make an assist, shoot a three, steal a ball, or steal a game.

Donta Bright is the best finisher in the country. And Dana Dingle is one of the quietest threats in college ball, averaging 14 points per game.

But no description of the UMass team would be complete without recognizing the enormous contribution made by Coach John Calipari, the best coach in the country. As the Minutemen sprinted from Midnight Madness to March Madness, Coach Cal reminded America that through hard work and determination, good guys can finish first.

As the only UMass-Amherst graduate ever to serve in Congress, I share great pride in our team.

And for all those who marvel at the success of refuse-to-lose basketball, and UMass itself, there is only one message: The best is yet to come.

HOUSE LEADERSHIP HAS SURRENDERED TO THEIR EXTREMISTS

(Ms. MCCARTHY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, today we have an opportunity to give the American people something they want and something they need, a guarantee that if they change jobs they will not lose their health insurance.

It is that simple. We know how to do it. The President, the Republican Senate and House Democrats all agree.

So I ask what is the problem? the problem is that the House leadership has surrendered to their extremists and loaded up a truly bipartisan bill with special interest provisions that would cost the American taxpayer millions of dollars.

My constituents are not asking for something for nothing. They are willing to pay for health insurance.

Let us push those special interests aside, work together, and give American families basic security.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the Republican leadership to put politics aside, clean up this bill so we can give Americans this important first step toward health care reform. It is the right thing to do.

WHO DO WE TRUST?

(Mr. HAYWORTH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I listened with great interest to my colleague from Missouri. Many things she said I agree with: the notion of health insurance being able to be taken from job to job; the notion of affordability and portability is important. But again my friends on the other side would rather play politics and indulge in name calling than deal with sound policy.

No, it is not extreme to let the American people have medical savings accounts so that they can decide how to spend their health care dollars. Mr. Speaker, the fact is that will help American taxpayers and the hard-working men and women of America immeasurably, and once again, Mr. Speaker, it comes down to this basic question:

Why should we be afraid to let the American people have control of their own money, have control of their own future, and again, Mr. Speaker, it comes down to this question:

Who do we trust; the people of the United States or the Washington bureaucrats?

Mr. Speaker, I trust the people of the United States.

END HEALTH CARE INSURANCE DISCRIMINATION

(Mr. BENTSEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Speaker, the House later today can do something that has really been quite rare in this Congress. We can pass legislation which will actually help average Americans, and I would say to the gentleman from Arizona, we can pass legislation that 191 Members of this House on both sides of the aisle support, that was introduced by a Member of the gentleman's side of the aisle, the 55 Members of the other body, a majority of the other body, support, that every group, from the American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association to the independent insurance agents and the National Association of Manufacturers support.

We can pass legislation that does away with insurance discrimination for preexisting conditions, that says, If someone loses their job, or they get sick, they can still retain their right to buy insurance that has common sense market reform, that everyone should agree with, and not load it up with special interests' gobbledygook which will kill this bill forever.

This Congress has accomplished virtually nothing, but today we have an opportunity to get something passed that the other body will pass in April, that the President will sign, and do right by the American people.

So the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. HAYWORTH] is way off base with what he is saying. Let us do right by the American people and pass a democratic substitute of health care reform.

FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION REFORM

(Mr. BURR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BURR. Mr. Speaker, the United States has the best health care system in the world. It is unthinkable for Americans to have anything less than superior access to lifesaving drugs. By safety streamlining the drug approval process we can not only help families and seniors by lowering drug prices and keeping high paying jobs on American soil, but we will give terminally ill patients access to lifesaving treatments.

Yesterday patients from across this country came to Washington and told us their hard stories about being denied access to drugs that may, in fact, save their lives. It is these courageous people that inspire us to reform the Food and Drug Administration.

America's health care industry and patients are chained to a FDA process that provides no flexibility, no common sense, and has no human face. The average time for the drug approval in this country is a whopping 13 to 15 years. For terminally ill patients with no hope that timeable simply will not do.

I urge my colleagues to watch FDA reform as it comes to this House floor later this month.

DO NOT KILL HEALTH CARE REFORM

(Mr. PALLONE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, by adding these medical savings accounts to
